The United Arab Emirates is a constitutional federation of seven emirates; Abu Dhabi, Dubai, Sharjah, Ajman, Umm al-Quwain, Ras al-Khaimah and Fujairah. The federation was formally established on 2nd December 1971. The United Arab Emirates (UAE) occupies an area of 83,000 sq km along the south-eastern tip of the Arabian Peninsula. Qatar lies to the west, Saudi Arabia to the south and west, and Oman to the north and east. The capital and the largest city of the federation, Abu Dhabi, is located in the emirate of the same name.

Four-fifths of the UAE is desert, yet it is a country of contrasting landscapes, from awe-inspiring dunes to rich oases, precipitous rocky mountains to fertile plains.

The United Arab Emirates, one of the world's fastest growing tourist destinations, has all the right ingredients for an unforgettable holiday, sun, sand, sea, sports, unbeatable shopping experiences, top-class hotels and restaurants, an intriguing traditional culture, and a safe and welcoming environment.

Perceptions

The United Arab Emirates is a modern country filled with modern luxuries, consumer products, and high technology. However, social practices in Emirati society as a whole is conservative due to the strong influence of tradition, family, religion, paternal authority, and social class distinctions. While Gulf countries pride themselves on their tolerance of foreign influences within their society, staff should be sensitive to and respectful of the social's norms of Arab society. A few aspects that merit special attention here are: clothing, male-female relations, and religion.

Religion

Islam is a powerful influence on life in the UAE. Islam is the official religion of the state, and Arab Islamic culture predominates in the UAE. Yet, tolerance toward the large expatriate communities is the norm, and communities of other religious beliefs practice their religions freely within the UAE's cosmopolitan society.

Keeping these cultural and religious concerns in mind, it is possible to live very happily in the U.A.E.

Following these simple guidelines will make you an even more welcome guest in one of the world's safest, most secure and friendly destination.

- A. Full-Time Faculty
- B. Part-Time Faculty
- C. Visiting Faculty
- D. Adjunct Faculty
- E. Emeritus Faculty

A. Full-Time Faculty

A full-time faculty member is one whose primary employment is with the institution concerned, and who receives a contract as a full-time employee with a primary assignment as per the Faculty Track System (teaching/research/ clinical).

B. Part-Time Faculty

Part-time faculty members teach courses that are beyond remedial or readiness levels. Their employment is subject to the same requirements of professional competence and experience as their full-time counterparts. Their number shall not exceed 25% of the total faculty members for any program offered by the University. In addition, the teaching load of part-time faculty members shall not exceed 6 credit hours per semester.

C. Visiting Faculty

When a vacancy occurs late in the normal recruiting/hiring timeframe, the Dean may petition the Vice Chancellor Academics to conduct an emergency hire. After consulting with the department chair (who, in turn, shall consult with the department faculty when possible), the Dean shall recommend to the Vice Chancellor Academics appointing a faculty member for a one-semester or one-year contract. Only in unusual circumstances shall an emergency appointment be made for more than one year. As soon as possible, the HR shall inform the department chair when a person has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

D. Adjunct Faculty

Adjunct faculty are normally qualified health professionals of appropriate distinction whose primary employment is external to the academic institution. They are appointed to supplement the full-time teaching in other hospitals.

The Adjunct faculty is appointed in compliance with the guidelines provided in the 2019 Standards for Institutional Licensure and Program Accreditation, Commission for Academic Accreditation, Ministry of Education, United Arab Emirates.

E. Emeritus Faculty

The University recognizes the distinguished service and distinction of the members of the University by conferring Emeritus titles effective upon retirement. The status of Emeritus may be conferred upon any retiring member of the General Faculty of GMU as a reward for meritorious service.

4.2. Faculty Track System:

GMU is ushering into an era of transformation to become a comprehensive Academic Health System. The traditional role of faculty being effective in education, research and clinical care is changing in order to respond to the context of the changing healthcare and practice.

The faculty in the system play different roles with variability in performance and responsibilities between teaching, research and clinical services. Thus, faculty will be designated into separate tracks which recognizes the strength of each one and help them to develop and direct their strength towards areas of expertise which collectively support the goals of GMU. Faculty will be able to choose either regular (education), research, or clinical “professional” track they consider or wish to be a best fit for their main strength. This system is considered in recruitment, appointment and appraisal of faculties.

All faculties fit into one of the three tracks as mentioned below:

- A. The Educator / Researcher Track
- B. The Researcher / Educator Track
- C. The Clinical / Educator Track

A. The Educator / Researcher Track: is for faculty members who spend greater than 60% of their time focused on educating health professions “medicine, dentistry, pharmacy and health sciences” students, residents and postgraduate students. Faculty spend the rest of their time on some combination of research, patient care, if applicable. Faculty in this track often conduct medical education research and produce scholarly educational activities. The faculty “Educator / Researcher” scholarly activities will be considered and measured through a broad approach related to their educational activities across six domains of key activities:

- Teaching and Learning.
- Student Assessment.

- Curriculum design, development and implementation.
- Faculty development.
- Organizational and Curriculum management
- Quality Assurance and Accreditation.

New faculty who have been designated to this career track will be expected to begin their careers working in usually one or two domains. As they progress to senior faculty, they will be expected to have activities in all five domains, although they may not necessarily be in equal proportions. Effort in any domain can demonstrate a scholarly activity that may extend to educational scholarship. Criteria of quantity, quality and engagement will be used to evaluate each domain (Hamdy H, Gibbs T, 2012).

Faculty in the Educator / Research track should to be able to provide evidence not only of educational activities (scholarly activity) but be able to demonstrate evidence of impact of their activities (scholarship). 4.3 Academic Advising and Office Hours

Faculty members are required to know the academic rules, regulations and procedures that apply to students' advising responsibilities. They are also required to be familiar with different University services provided to students. In that regard, faculty members should:

4.4. Principles of Academic Freedom

Institutions of Higher Education exist for the common good. The common good depends upon an uninhibited search for truth and its open expression. Hence, it is essential that faculty members are free to pursue scholarly inquiry without undue restriction, and to voice and publish individual conclusions concerning the significance of evidence that they consider relevant.

Within the bounds of professional behavior, each faculty member shall be entitled to full freedom in the classroom in discussing the subject being taught. Within the bounds of professional behavior, faculty members also shall have full freedom to express disagreement with other members of the university community. Although a faculty member observes the regulations of the institution, he or she shall maintain the right to criticize and seek revision. Faculty members also are citizens or residents of a nation, emirate, and community; therefore, when speaking, writing, or acting outside the classroom, they should be free from University censorship. On such occasions, faculty members should make it clear that they are not speaking for the University. Faculty also must be aware of the practices and sensibilities of the nation's culture.

Academic freedom is vital in the establishment of a climate of academic integrity, and it applies to both teaching and research. Faculty are entitled to freedom of discussion of course subject and students the freedom to learn, in addition, faculty are entitled to freedom of advancement and dissemination of knowledge through their research work and the publication of results. GMU recognizes that successful discharge of these functions requires an atmosphere of intellectual freedom.

Since freedom entails responsibilities, faculty members are advised to accept the responsibilities associated with intellectual freedom. Those responsibilities are towards students, colleagues, University and the larger community GMU serves. For this purpose, GMU has specified ethical guidelines (Ref 4.5) for its faculty members to help them discharge their responsibilities in compliance with the University standards.

Non-Discrimination Policy

No officer or employee of the Gulf Medical University shall discriminate against any person because of race, color, religion, national origin, age (within the constraints of UAE labor laws), non-disqualifying handicap condition, ethnic group, or gender, in any of its programs, activities, contracts, personnel administration practices or any other actions it undertakes. Furthermore, the University shall maintain and advance those practices, processes, and circumstances that afford equal opportunity to all individuals. Without limiting this non-discrimination policy, the Gulf Medical University is committed to comply with all laws that apply to a faculty member's employment at the University.

4.5. Faculty Professional Ethics

Gulf Medical University (GMU) requires its faculty members to be responsible for academic integrity and demonstrate high standards of professional ethics. They shall apply principles of justice, truthfulness, fairness, and respect for others in all matters related to their work, especially when making decisions involving ethical dilemmas.

They are required to ensure that people are fairly treated and not discriminated against, abused or exploited. They shall honor the rights of others and shall cause no harm to any individual. They shall respect the diversity of cultures and recognize fundamental human rights. They must keep in confidence, all privileged information gained while employed at GMU. However, a faculty member's special position in the community imposes particular obligations and serious responsibilities regarding conduct and behavior and requires faculty to act in the best interests of the profession and the institution. These issues are addressed in policies on academic freedom, ethics and responsibility, and honesty and integrity in teaching and research.

Academic Ethics and Responsibility

All faculty members assume certain ethical obligations and responsibilities to students, to fellow faculty members, to the institution, to the profession, and to society at large as listed below:

- When considering the interruption or termination of their service, faculty members shall take into account the effect of their decision upon the institution and give notice of their intentions as per their contract.
- Faculty members shall accept their share of faculty responsibilities for contributing to the governance of the institution.

Faculty members have ethical obligations and responsibilities to their profession

- The demonstration of professional integrity by a faculty member includes recognition that society at large will judge the profession as well as the institution by his/her statements and behavior. Therefore, the faculty member should strive to be accurate, to exercise appropriate restraint, to be willing to listen to and show respect to members of the society at large expressing different opinions. Faculty should make every effort to indicate that they are not speaking or acting for the University when speaking or acting as a private person. The fundamental responsibilities of a faculty member as a teacher and scholar include:
 - 1) Maintenance of competence in one's field of specialization, including appearances in the public arena such as discussions, lectures, consulting, publications and/or participation in professional organizations and meetings.
 - 2) Exhibition of such professional competence in the classroom, library or laboratory.
 - 3) Fostering honest academic conduct as specified in the university regulations.
 - 4) Scholarly conduct must avoid fabrications, falsifications, plagiarism and other practices that deviate from accepted scholarly work.
 - 5) Faculty must apply scholarly rigor and integrity in obtaining, recording and analyzing data as well as in reporting and publishing results.
 - 6) Faculty undertaking research should do so in a manner consistent with professional honesty and within the public interest. Research should be designed to enhance knowledge in a particular field of scholarship and should demonstrate sound methodology, accuracy and maintain the factual integrity of the data.

- 7) Faculty shall use funds designated for research purposes in the prescribed manner.
- 8) Faculty shall comply with relevant statutes or regulations for the protection and welfare of researchers, human subjects, the public, laboratory animals and the environment.
- 9) It is the duty of faculty members doing research, teaching, laboratory or other activities to protect the privacy of others, to avoid causing mental or physical harm and to promote safe and healthy working practices and environment.

4.6. Academic Honesty

Academic honesty is the pursuit of scholarly activity in an open, honest and responsible manner. Academic honesty is a basic guiding principle for all academic activities at the University, and all members of the University community are expected to act in accordance with this principle.

Academic honesty includes a commitment not to engage in or tolerate acts of falsification, misrepresentation or deception. Such acts of dishonesty violate the fundamental ethical principles of the University community and compromise the worth of work completed by others. It is worth emphasizing here that the University expects all its faculty members to abide by the highest standards of professional ethics in all their activities conducted inside or outside the University campus.

4.7. Misconduct

GMU requires that its faculty members demonstrate high standards of ethical behavior and act as role models for their students. It expects and demands that they adhere to those standards of conduct that are deemed necessary and appropriate for an educational institution. While it is not possible to list all acts and/or omissions that violate the desired conduct and may result in disciplinary action, the following are some of the more obvious acts or omissions that are unacceptable:

- Refusal to carry out the duties required by his/her position or refrain from abiding by the instructions under the employment contract, which are issued by the superior or the person in charge.
- Use of physical violence against any person inside the University campus.
- Racial or sexual harassment or any other form of harassment to any student, affiliate of or visitor to the University.
- Proceeding work in a state of drunkenness (either drugs or alcohol).
- Intentionally keeping the superior in the dark regarding conflict of interests.
- Committing any act that might infringe on article of the contract or violate the regulations and policies issued by the University from time to time regarding safety and security.
- Mishandling the safety equipment or acting in a manner that threatens the rules of safety and

 - Unauthorized use of equipment inside the University.
 - Disturbing the course of work by adopting undesirable attitude.
 - Absence without permission.
 - Non-abiding by the University policy regarding smoking in the workplace or non-abidance by the safety rules.

Sometimes it is difficult to classify some cases of misconduct. Therefore, any decision regarding the seriousness of the case is subject to the consideration of the University based on findings and relevant facts as determined by the Disciplinary Committee. The concerned faculty member will be treated fairly and provided an opportunity to explain his/her position. If the Disciplinary Committee, after thorough investigation, concludes that a disciplinary action must be taken against the faculty member, it may recommend verbal counseling, written warning, suspension or even termination. In case the faculty member is not satisfied with the decision of the committee, he/she can file a written appeal to the Chancellor of the University requesting a review of the decision, as explained in Section related to Grievance in this Handbook.

Where reasonably practicable, supervisors electing to supervise a student in an area likely to lead to claimable Intellectual Property, should ensure a confidentiality and Intellectual Property assignment agreement is completed with the student before the work is commenced.

5.4. Exploitation of Intellectual Property Owned by GMU

In order for GMU to comply with laws of Intellectual Property, faculty members and students should be conscious of the need to avoid premature disclosure of research results to third parties. Prior to doing so, intellectual property protection should be acquired specifying the rights that will accrue to the faculty member or student and to GMU.

The faculty member or student, whose creative work is commercialized will be compensated on a pre-agreed amount and will waive his rights to the creative work to GMU. In this regard, the Faculty Performance Review and Development System (FPRDS) is essential for the development of the university.

- Teaching and Learning
- Research, Scholarly and Creative Activities
- Service to the University, Profession, and Community
- Continuous Faculty Development.

This document defines GMU FPRDS guidelines that help faculty members understand their roles, assist them in preparing their annual evaluation records, and assist the Head of Departments (HoDs) and Deans in evaluating the performance of faculty members.

Other purposes of this FPRDS shall include the following:

- Helping faculty members to capitalize on their areas of strengths and recognize areas in need of development or improvement.
- Recognizing meritorious performance.
- Improving the quality of teaching, research, and service.
- Providing opportunities for discussion and feedback in order to identify problems, obstacles, or difficulties that hinder progress and institution development; and
- Identifying and strengthening the roles of faculty members within the program, college, and the University.

A proper training program needs to be implemented for all parties involved in using this system for evaluating faculty members' performance throughout the university.

General Guidelines

- The HoD may form a department committee to provide advice in assessing any activities or domains included in the evaluation process.
- The student course questionnaire, which is one of the FPRDS instruments, will be administered for all classes each semester. Results of all questionnaires that are conducted during the current evaluation period for courses taught by a faculty member will be included in the faculty evaluation.
- Courses offered over two semesters are to be evaluated differently than the courses offered for one semester: Student Course questionnaire will be completed by the end of the 2nd semester.
- It is the responsibility of the faculty member to submit relevant supporting documents to provide recorded evidence of an accomplishment, such as publications, grants and committee work.

 - f. Suspension of Faculty Grievance Process: Once a grievance has been filed and a formal Faculty Grievance Committee has been designated, the process may be suspended, only if both parties agree to a temporary suspension of the grievance. The purpose of a temporary suspension of the grievance committee shall be to allow the parties to reconcile.
2. The Faculty Grievance Committee for the dismissal procedure shall be appointed.

The following shall apply in hearing a case involving dismissal of a faculty member:

- a. Service of notice of hearing with specific reason of charges against the faculty member of the formal Faculty Grievance Committee shall be made in writing at least ten days prior to the hearing. The faculty member may: (1) waive a hearing, or (2) respond to the charges in writing. If a faculty member waives a hearing but denies the charges or asserts that the charges do not support the finding of an adequate cause, the formal Faculty Grievance Committee shall evaluate all available evidence and rest its recommendations upon the evidence in the record.
- b. If the formal Faculty Grievance Committee concludes that the evidence in the record has not established adequate cause for dismissal, it shall so report to the Chancellor of GMU. If the Chancellor does not approve the report, the reasons shall be stated in writing to the formal Faculty Grievance Committee for response before rendering a final recommendation. If the formal Faculty Grievance Committee concludes an academic penalty less than dismissal, it may so recommend with supporting reasons. The Chancellor may or may not follow the recommendations of the formal Faculty Grievance Committee.

- c. After complying with the foregoing procedures, the Chancellor of GMU shall send an official letter to the faculty member giving notice of retention or removal. Such a letter shall be delivered to the addressee only. The letter shall state clearly any charges, which the Chancellor has found sustained and shall notify as such the faculty member.
 - d. Upon dismissal by the Chancellor of GMU, the faculty member shall be suspended from employment without pay from the date of the final decision of the Chancellor.
3. The formal Faculty Grievance Hearing Committee shall, within five days of the completion or termination of its hearing, file a written report of its findings of fact and of its recommendations for administrative action with the Chancellor of GMU. Copies of this report shall be sent to all necessary parties involved.
 4. During the course of each hearing, the Formal Faculty Grievance Hearing Committee shall keep minutes of its meeting and such other records of its activities as it deems necessary and shall at its discretion include information derived there from its reports to the Chancellor.
 5. The formal hearing procedure may be terminated at the discretion of the formal Faculty Grievance Hearing Committee at any time upon request of the complainant.
 6. In the event that a necessary party feels that the formal Faculty Grievance Hearing Committee has not complied with the policies and guidelines for the formal Grievance Procedure set forth herein, the said party shall have the right of appeal to the Chancellor of GMU for review provided that the appeal is made within 30 days of notice of the ruling.

Procedures for discrimination and harassment appeals

Procedures within the College or Administrative Unit

GMU shall establish and administer its own rules and procedures for discrimination and harassment complaints. It shall be the purpose of such rules and procedures to resolve such matters, whenever possible, or to provide final written recommendation to the administrative unit which shall be communicated to all parties to any complaint.

The complaint shall be discussed first with the immediate supervisor. If a resolution of the complaint is not achieved at that level, a resolution shall be pursued at each administrative level up to the Dean. Faculty and staff may also bring complaints directly to certain administrative officials. Faculty members and other parties may contact the Dean. A written statement concerning the specific nature of the complaint and the parties involved shall be forwarded to the Dean.

The Dean shall issue a written statement of his/her final decision to both the complainant and the accused party.

Functions of the Vice Chancellor Academics with regard to Faculty Grievance

1. To review all appeals regarding discrimination and harassment complaints.
2. To determine if a hearing of such appeals shall be granted.
3. To make recommendations to the Chancellor regarding the appeal.

Application for Appeal

1. All requests for appeal must be made to the Chancellor within 10 days of receipt by the applicant of written notice of final action by the administrative supervisor.
2. All applications for appeal must be submitted in writing and shall include at least:
 - a. Statement of particulars sufficient to describe the original complaint made by or against the applicant.
 - b. A description of the treatment of that complaint to that date.
 - c. A written notice of the administrative recommendation and action on which the applicant wishes to appeal.
3. Application for appeal shall be approved by the Vice Chancellor Academics.
4. Immediate notice of the said disposition shall be delivered to all concerned parties.

Appointment of discrimination and harassment appeals sub-committee

If an appeal hearing is granted, the Chancellor shall appoint a sub-committee for the hearing. Composition of the Sub-committee shall depend upon the parties involved in the original complaint and shall be constituted accordingly.

Final recommendations of the Faculty Grievance Committee

1. Within twenty (20) working days of its constitution, the sub-committee shall submit its recommendations to the Chancellor.
2. Within seven (7) working days of receipt of the report, the Chancellor shall give written notice of his decision directly to the Applicant

Role of the Chancellor

The Chancellor of the GMU shall be the final decision maker under the terms of this Code. The Chancellor shall not be subject to the grievance provisions of this Code for decisions made or actions taken as Chancellor, whether based upon the advice of others or upon independent judgment of the needs and interests of the GMU.

Appeals

A faculty member can file a written appeal to the Chancellor requesting a review of a decision made by an official of the University. The decision must have directly affected the academic or professional activities of the appellant as an individual. The purpose of the appeal process is to determine whether appropriate procedures were followed in making certain kinds of academic or administrative decisions, rather than to re-evaluate the merits of the decisions themselves. The appellant should file his or her appeal within 30 days of being notified of the decision. In addition, the concerned faculty member is encouraged to resolve the dispute informally before beginning the appeal process.

11. Faculty Separation Policy

These guidelines apply to any condition whereby a faculty member, whether on initial or term contract appointment, may be separated from employment with the University prior to the expiration of the faculty member's contract. These conditions include resignation, dismissal and death.

11.1. Resignation

If for any reason a member of the full-time faculty intends to terminate his or her relationship with the University, due notice must be given in writing to the Chancellor through the Chair of the department and Dean of the College at least three months prior to the date of termination as per UAE labor law. The University reserves the right to prorate termination benefits if due notice is not given. Copies of the resignation letter must go to the Vice Chancellor Academics and the Chancellor.

Unless an earlier date is specified, the effective date of a faculty member's resignation shall be three months from the date of submission of the resignation.

Faculty who resign from their positions at GMU must fulfill all obligations to their College prior to final departure, and the Dean of the respective College must confirm in writing that they have fulfilled their obligations prior to the delivery of final payment. Such obligations include handing over all papers, exams, grades, etc. related to their last semester of teaching at GMU.

11.2. Dismissal or Termination

Dismissal is the termination of employment of a faculty member of the Gulf Medical University, before the term of appointment has expired. Dismissal recommendations for reasons of academic performance or programmatic considerations initiated by the Vice Chancellor Academics must be approved by the Chancellor.

11.3. Faculty Death

In the event of the death of a faculty, the dependent family members, or legal beneficiaries of the faculty as specified in the employment contract, receive the salary for the month during which death occurred, a payment from Group Life Insurance, and the end-of-service benefits.

11.4. Assurances

University policies and procedures for faculty dismissals shall ensure that.

1. The rights of the individual are protected under these policies and procedures.
2. Dismissal shall not violate the rights of an individual under applicable law.
3. The threat of dismissal shall not be used to restrain faculty members in their exercise of academic freedom.
4. Dismissal procedures shall provide for timely written notice of impending dismissal, which shall specify the grounds on which dismissal has been sought.
5. A faculty member notified of impending dismissal may avail himself/herself of the right of grievance, provided the necessary conditions have been met as specified in the chapter on the grievance code.

Justifications

Dismissal may be justified by one or more of the following:

Adequate Cause

Dismissal for adequate cause shall include grounds related to dishonesty, proven incompetence in teaching or research, serious neglect of professional or academic responsibilities, and/or personal misconduct affecting the community or the institution.

Procedure for Dismissal for Adequate Cause

Dismissal for adequate cause of any faculty member, whether on initial or term contract appointment shall require formal notification in writing to the affected faculty member by the Chancellor. This notice shall inform the faculty member of the decision to dismiss and the specific grounds for dismissal. If the affected faculty member wishes to challenge the dismissal, he/she must notify the Chancellor in writing of his/her intention to appeal the decision. Such notification must be received by the office of the Chancellor within ten working days of receiving notification from the Chancellor.

The Vice Chancellor Academics may recommend to the Chancellor immediate suspension of the faculty member, if the Vice Chancellor Academics believes such action is warranted based on the grounds for dismissal (see “Adequate Cause” above). The Chancellor shall make the suspension determination.

If the faculty member notifies the Chancellor of his/her intent to appeal the Vice Chancellor Academic’s recommendations, the Chancellor shall constitute an evidence committee to establish the facts in the case. The evidence committee shall offer the faculty member the opportunity to respond to the charges. This committee shall file a report within 15 working days unless the Chancellor provides an extension for good reason.

If the facts support the original charge, the faculty member shall be dismissed. A dismissed faculty member shall normally receive salary and benefits until the effective date of dismissal unless otherwise determined by the Chancellor. The decision to dismiss is non-grievable.

11.5. Termination of Faculty due to Discontinuation of an Academic Unit or a Division

The recommendation to discontinue an academic unit (e.g. department) or a Division (e.g. school/college) shall be made by the Chancellor on the basis of educational considerations and only after consultation and review as set forth herein. When the Chancellor believes that discontinuance is necessary, he or she shall inform and seek the advice of the University Council. The request for advice shall be accompanied by written supporting documentation. The University Council shall promptly inform and seek the advice of the affected groups. The University Council shall, in turn, provide advice and consultation to the Chancellor.

The decision to discontinue an academic unit or a division may be made only by the Board of Trustees. A plan for the discontinuance of an academic unit or a division, approved through appropriate channels of consultation, shall be presented by the Chairman University Council, to the Board of Trustees before action is taken to discontinue. Termination of faculty appointments or major changes in academic programs must conform with principles established in the approved plan, as well as the provisions of this document. The plan may provide for the termination of continuing contract faculty in the discontinued program while probationary-contract faculty are retained in another program. Academic considerations shall be primary in making program and personnel decisions. The discontinuance requires the agreement of the University Council.

After the decision to discontinue, major steps for dealing with the affected parties shall be reviewed jointly by the Chancellor/Vice Chancellor Academics. Prior to issuing notices of dismissal to faculty in cancelled academic programs, the Chancellor, based on the recommendation of the Vice Chancellor Academics, shall give careful consideration to all reasonable alternatives and ensure that decisions to terminate faculty under the plan shall conform to all applicable laws.

11.6. Financial Exigency

Declaration

The declaration of an exigency requires that the dismissal of faculty is likely, even if such dismissals are not imminent. When the Chancellor of the university believes a bona fide financial exigency exists, he/she shall promptly inform the Board of Trustees and seek the advice of the Vice Chancellor Academics, Chair Academic Committee. The Chancellor will provide advice and consultation to the Board of Trustees. The decision to declare a financial exigency may be made only by the Board of Trustees.

Retrenchment

After the declaration of an exigency, major steps for dealing with the financial crisis shall proceed along the lines as described in the case of discontinuance of academic units, or divisions. Consultation between the University Council and the Academic Committee shall be central to this process.

A retrenchment plan shall be developed by the Chair, University Council and approved by the Board of Trustees before actions are taken pursuant to a declaration of financial exigency. Termination of faculty appointments or major changes in academic programs shall conform to the principles established in the retrenchment plan, as well as the provisions of this document. Academic considerations shall be primary in making program and personnel decisions.

The Board of Trustees may declare that a financial exigency no longer exists. However, nothing in this section shall imply that notice of dismissal issued to any individual during a period of declared exigency is automatically withdrawn or otherwise invalid.

11.7. Separation

The date of employment separation will be governed as follows:

- i. Last Working Day: The normal date of separation for employees will be the last day actually worked.

- ii. Employee's Intent Not to Return to Work: The date of separation for employees who give notice of intent not to return to work while on paid or unpaid authorized leave will be effective from the date such notification is received.
- iii. Death: The date of separation for deceased employee shall be the date of death.
- iv. Failure to Return from Personal Leave: The date of separation in the event an employee fails to return from personal leave of absence shall be the last day of the authorized leave granted.

Nothing in this chapter nullifies conditions of employment contained in the letter of appointment.

APPENDIX-2 FACULTY PERFORMANCE REVIEW AND DEVELOPMENT SYSTEM [FPRDS]

Responsibilities

Faculty performance review and development system is a joint effort among several participants. The present document sets out the minimum requirements for all types of faculty. This section outlines the roles and responsibilities of the faculty member, Head of Department, Dean, and the responsibilities at the University level.

Responsibilities of the Faculty Member

- Complete the relevant FPRDS forms and documents for evaluation by the HoD, including the Enhanced Course Portfolio, one full course for evaluation that is different each year, publications, conference papers, and action plan for improvement, as well as other supporting documents.
- Submit all required documents by the deadline set by the University, together with additional materials the faculty member deems highly relevant to his or her performance evaluation for the period under review.
- Meet with the HoD to discuss the faculty member's performance and finalize the evaluation.
- Submit an action plan for the next period which should include the weighting of evaluation criteria based on the expected allocation of faculty time and the needs of the department/college.
- All faculty members shall agree with the HoD on the weighting for each component of the FPRDS in their action plan; this agreement may be changed only in exceptional cases for unforeseen reasons.

Responsibilities of the Head of Department (HoD)

The Head of Department shall review all portfolios in the context of the requirements of this policy as well as the department's strategic plan and relevant program objectives and needs. In line with the above, the HoD will

- Ensure that all faculty members have received and understand the FPRDS materials and forms. Review all materials and reports submitted by the faculty member to ensure that they are consistent with the requirements and adequate for the purposes of performance evaluation.
- Secure any additional information from the individual faculty member required to undertake a fair and sound review of the faculty member's performance.
- Draft a preliminary evaluation report for discussion with the faculty member and communicated to the faculty so it can be reviewed before a personal meeting with the faculty member.
- Meet individually with each faculty member to
 - a) Discuss his/her performance according to the FPRDS criteria
 - b) Present feedback on strengths and prospects for development and/or improvement.

- Approve the faculty member action plan for the next evaluation period during the evaluation meeting.
- Complete the faculty member individual evaluation report justifying the scores for each of the four categories by specific reference to the criteria.
- Provide faculty members time to review the evaluation report and request a written response to the report when there is no agreement.
- Respond in writing to the faculty member; such response shall be included in the faculty member's file.
- Submit a final appraisal report with rationale and reference to specific evidence to the Dean for endorsement.
- Maintain the confidentiality of data submitted by the faculty for his/her appraisal and the evaluation results.

In case of disagreement between the HoD and faculty member on the content of the evaluation report, the faculty member may appeal to the Dean who will appoint a committee to make a recommendation on the case.

By mutual agreement between the HoD and the faculty member, the action plan (the academic work plan for next year including teaching, research and service) may be revised in response to extraordinary circumstances occurring during the new cycle of evaluation.

Responsibilities of the Dean

The Dean is the management authority at the College level. In this regard, the Dean shall

- Monitor and support the adequate execution of the FPRDS.
- Receive the reports from the HoDs.
- Receive faculty appeal requests for re-evaluation and, when appropriate, manage the faculty re-evaluation process.
- When there is no HoD, designate an Associate Dean to assume the role of the HoD in the performance appraisal process.
- Prepare the final reports and submit them to the Vice Chancellor Academics office.

Responsibilities of the Vice Chancellor

- Ensure that new faculty members joining in the university will receive these materials to familiarize themselves with the content prior the period of their evaluation.
- Cooperate with the various university departments/colleges to implement the FPRDS.

- Implement and manage the online FPRDS forms and data collection systems, including managing the student course questionnaire and employing strategies to enhance its response rate.
- Prepare and submit the final faculty review and development report to the university administration.
- Provide the appropriate training to Heads of Departments and faculty members on the best use of the guidelines to optimize the results.
- Maintain the confidentiality of all data submitted by the faculty member for his/her appraisal and the evaluation results.

Confidentiality of data and results

All parties involved in the faculty appraisal process must maintain the confidentiality of all data and results made available to them at all times.

FPRDS Policy Guidelines

Who is evaluated?

The FPRDS applies to all full-time regular faculty members including lecturers in colleges.

The HoD shall evaluate all faculty members who are appointed as regular faculty/lecturers during the evaluation period. The evaluation is done on courses already taught; therefore, the evaluation period used for evaluating faculty members is defined to be the preceding two semesters.

Faculty members who have part-time special assignments (e.g. program coordinators) are typically accommodated by the FPRDS through flexible weightings that are assigned to different roles and performance metrics (e.g. program coordinators shall be assigned higher weighting for the “Service” role).

Student Course Questionnaire Policy

In its commitment to reflective practice and continuous improvement, the University seeks the opinions of students on the instruction they have received in all courses each semester. The results are used by the instructor for self-improvement purposes and by the university administration for decisions related to faculty retention, promotion and merit pay.

Procedures

- 1 All surveys related to student evaluation of the courses or faculty shall be anonymous. No one, including the instructor, may know the name of the students who participate or any student’s individual responses.

2. The opinions are gathered online beginning 3 weeks prior to the end of classes for the semester.
3. The student opinion collection process should be closed before the final exams.
4. In case two or more faculty members are involved in the teaching of a course, a separate evaluation should be done for each faculty member who taught at least one-third of the course.
5. Developing the survey and administering it are the responsibility of the academic units with the assistance of the Institutional Research Unit.
- 5.1. The students shall be notified by Moodle when the survey will begin and end, and reminded periodically to complete the questionnaire;
- 5.2. The IRU shall analyze the responses and generate a report which shall be sent to the Office of the Vice Chancellor Academics who in turn disseminates the report as follows:

- A report to the individual faculty member summarizing the results of the survey, with a copy to the Head of Department and the Dean.
 - A summary report to the Head of Department and the Dean on all surveys for instruction in his/her department.
 - An electronic file is available for the Deans and Vice Chancellor to access all results of all faculty members and departments.
6. Faculty members are expected to take the results of student surveys of their instruction into account in preparing for instruction and to comment on lessons learned in the “reflection” statement” in the performance review process.
 7. Heads of Department are expected to take the results into explicit account in their annual performance reviews of individual faculty member.
 8. Departments are expected to include the summary of results for discussion in a meeting, with a view to identifying any changes needed to ensure continuous improvement in the quality and delivery of their programs.

Procedure and Timeline

The evaluation period for all categories of faculty members is based on academic year; it begins with the Fall semester and ends with the Spring semester. All dates shall be given in reference to the GMU official academic calendar.

Appeal Process

- If a faculty member does not agree with the performance appraisal evaluation, he/she may appeal to the Dean for the re-evaluation of his/her file within five working days after the spring mid-semester break.
- The appeal shall be submitted in writing and must include the reasons and justifications for the appeal.
- The Dean shall notify the faculty member of his/her decision in writing within ten working days of receiving the appeal.

Evaluation Criteria

The four components of the FPRDS and weight ranges applicable to regular faculty members: Teaching & Learning (10-70%), Research, Scholarly and Creative Activities (10-70%); Service (10-20%), and Continuous Faculty Development (5-10%).

The ranges are allocated depending on the level of faculty effort attributed to each category; faculty members' teaching weighting shall be proportionate to the number of courses taught over the evaluation cycle. The weight for the teaching and learning component should be allocated in increments of 10-15% for each course taught. The total percentage of teaching and research should not be below 75%.

Lecturers who are teaching and not performing administrative duties can be accommodated with the following rating for teaching (60-80%); and (0-25%) for Scholarly Activities. The weighting for Service and Continuous Faculty Development will remain as for regular faculty members.

The criteria for scoring the components are based on the rubrics provided. The overall evaluation score is a number between 0 and 4.

Translated into qualitative evaluation, the score will be as follows: Exceptional [3.8 - 4.0]; Exceed Expectations [3.4- 3.7]; Meet Expectations [2.5 - 3.3]; and Below Expectations [2.4 and below]

Teaching and Learning

Teaching and Learning is weighted between 10 and 70 percent of the total evaluation for professorial ranks; for lecturers who are teaching on a full-time basis, the weighting is between 60 and 80%. The number of courses taught over the academic year shall guide faculty members' teaching weighting. The rubric contains three sections:

The Enhanced Course Portfolio (mandatory):

Uploaded syllabi taught, assessment means, and teaching philosophy. Failure to submit this section will lead to have the rating scoring below 2.

Teaching, Creativity, and Assessment (80%):

This section is composed of key indicators that contain evidence of (1) integration of active learning strategies and effective student engagement in the course (50%), and (2) assessment methods to enhance student learning in the course (30%).

In case of integrated exams, the percentages will be changed as follows: (1) integration of active learning strategies and effective student engagement in the course (70%), and (2) assessment methods to enhance student learning in the course (30%).

In case a faculty member scores “1.9 points or below” during an evaluation period, the HoD shall require the faculty member to improve the course and to submit one additional course for evaluation.

Feedback on the student course questionnaire (20%):

This is the cumulative student feedback rating achieved by the faculty member on all courses taught during the evaluation period.

Research, Scholarly and Creative Activities

The weighting for this component shall be in the range of 10 to 80% of the overall faculty performance, depending on the faculty work plan and activity for the evaluation period. The following performance categories and rating guidelines are used to evaluate this component:

The evaluation rubric uses rating points to enable relative weights for 3 major categories of research productivity indicators (publications, research funding, and other research, scholarly and creative activities) based on the quality and quantity of the reported research activities. The total score for research and scholarship can be cumulated using a combination of any or all of the above 3 major categories to indicate the level of achievement of the faculty member under the overall “Research, Scholarly, and Creative Activities” component. The University reputation rests on the output of refereed publications and especially on those with a demonstrable high impact and/or international recognition as top tier publication in the field. In consequence, the highest weight of the evaluation shall be given to publications.

Publications:

Publications are used to evaluate the research achievements of faculty members and are considered an important metric for the academic standing of the faculty member and the University. Furthermore, publications are required for promotion to higher academic ranks. Eligible publications for evaluation are those published during the evaluation period (previous Spring and Fall semesters). More credit shall be given to publications within the discipline's top tier based on the prioritization of publication types as defined by the department/program. To encourage high quality scholarship, the top tier publications shall be granted full credit in two successive evaluation periods.

Research Funding:

Securing funding for one's research ideas is an indication of scholarly achievement and status among peers. The university encourages faculty members to write and submit competitive research proposals for funding sources. Guidelines on calculation of score for this category based on the type of grant, the role assumed by the faculty, and the number of funded projects.

Other research, scholarly and creative activities:

GMU recognizes that research productivity of faculty members can manifest in forms other than publications and grants such as research excellence awards received by faculty members, intellectual property, grant writing activities, co-supervision of student research, creative work, other types of scholarly work, and faculty mentorship.

Service

Faculty members are expected to employ their knowledge, expertise, and professional skills to benefit the University, the students, the discipline or profession, and the community at large in a manner consistent with the University mission. Preferably, service activities should be linked to the domain of expertise of the faculty member and fall in one of the following categories:

- Service to the University,
- Service to the profession and discipline
- Service to the community at large

The faculty member agrees with the Head of department on the type, scope and weight of the service activities that the faculty member should focus on during the period of evaluation. The weighting for this component shall be in the range of 10% to 20% of the overall faculty performance evaluation.

Performance Indicators and Rubric for Service

The faculty service is evaluated through documented service accomplishments and is based on the significance and impact of the activities as well as on the role played by the faculty in providing this service accomplishment.

It is the responsibility of the faculty member to provide all the necessary evidences that support his service activities. The HoD evaluates these activities based on a holistic appreciation of the faculty member overall effectiveness, ethics, collegiality, impact and proactivity.

Continuous Faculty Development

This component counts for 5-10% of the full evaluation. It contains two sections:

(1) Faculty member development in teaching, research, and/or community service, and (2) a final mandatory reflection paper on teaching, research, service and continuous development.

Faculty development in teaching, research, and/or community service (5-10%):

Gulf Medical University stresses continuous professional development for all faculty members. In this regard, faculty members shall be involved in different types of training programs each one according to his/her needs for a continuous improvement that can serve the college/university.

Faculty is evaluated through documented training and is based on the significance of the activities and their impact. The faculty member should agree with the HoD on a set of professional development activities. It is the responsibility of the faculty member to provide all the necessary evidence that support his continuous development. The HoD evaluates these activities based on a holistic appreciation of the faculty member's overall effectiveness, collegiality, impact and pro-activity.

Reflection Paper on teaching, research, service and faculty development:

The reflection paper is mandatory. It indicates how the faculty member sees his/her performance improving in teaching, research and service and how his /her students' performance improved during the evaluation period. The reflection paper includes also an "action plan" for enhancement, taking into consideration the types of professional development and training needed in the three areas mentioned above. It also anticipates the weighting of time to be devoted to each of the mentioned areas for the next evaluation period.

Failure to submit the Reflection Paper section will result in a nil score for the Continuous Faculty Development component.

Annual Faculty Evaluation – Timeline recap:

GMU shall introduce a practical timeline to complete the process of Annual Faculty Evaluation for each academic year.

Procedure and Timeline

The evaluation period for all categories of faculty members is based on academic year; it begins with the Fall semester and ends with the Spring semester. All dates shall be given in reference to the GMU official academic calendar.
